WOMEN IGNORE SPECIAL CLASS

Daughters of the American Revolution Argue Over Amendments.

MEANS RECOGNITION FOR ALL

Proposition to Select Vice General Alternately From the Army and Navy Is Lost After a Spirited Debate by the Members.

Washington dispatch: At the opening session of the thirteenth congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution Monday night of the time was devoted to the discussion of amendments offered at the last congress and arguments on parliamentary law. Several years ago the delegates failed to agree on a point of parliamentary law, and it was submitted to Thomas H. Reed, the speaker of the House of Representatives. His decision was reversed the next day and was unanimously voted down. Monday they settled all questions without appeal for outside opinions.

Bar Class Distinction. Mrs. McWilliams of Illinois offered an amendment providing that a vice general should be elected alternately from the army and navy. A Boston woman insisted that the professions of medicine, of law, of statesmanship, and the military would be slighted, and the military would be honored more than another, and the amendment was lost, as were a number presented by other members.

Many at Reception. Monday night Mrs. Fairbanks and the national officers received the society at the Corcoran Gallery of Art. Nearly 5,000 guests availed themselves of this courtesy. There was less of a disposition to make this congress a dress parade. At the session and the reception the gorgeous costumes of past years were missing. Mrs. Fairbanks herself sets the example of quiet, unostentatious apparel.

Over 40,000 Members. The credentials committee reported a total of 40,294 members, 887 chaplains, thirty national officers and 273 delegates. The Illinois delegates will elect their state regent. Mrs. Charles H. Deane was unanimously indorsed for reelection at the state conference. Mrs. D. N. Law of Lincoln is the only candidate for state vice regent.

AFTER SAN DOMINGO.

United States May Force Recognition of International Obligation.

Washington dispatch: Without public announcement the administration has practically decided to take a hand in the affairs of San Domingo. It has repudiated its indifference to international obligations brings down the wrath of any European government. There is no suggestion in domestic circles of American protection, but this government does not intend to suffer again the annoyance to which it was subjected when England, Germany and Italy blockaded and bombarded the Venezuelan coast to make President Castro come to terms. The best method suggested is to demand that the United States will step in and take possession of the San Domingo customs-houses collecting all duties or a portion of them and settling the proceeds aside for the settlement of foreign claims when duly adjudicated. President Morfias has been informed that this will be done if he does not scrupulously regard his foreign indebtedness.

Senator Makes a Slip.

Washington dispatch: A burst of spontaneous laughter echoed through the senate chamber when Senator Nelson, arguing for better roads in Alaska, forgot to mention the word "road" and used the word "road" instead. He used an adjective that surprised him apparently as much as it did his colleagues. He told of how richly Alaska had produced gold, furs, etc., for America. "All this have they done," he said, and then completely forgetting himself he went on: "And, Mr. President, in return we have not done a thing for them." Mr. Nelson was embarrassed, apologized, and said that adjectives sometimes came unsolicited from his heart. His speech ended there.

Adjournment Date.

Washington, D. C., special: April 28 continues to be the adjournment goal for the senate, but the odds are against it. The senate and house are striving. Several members of congress have important engagements which they desire to fill soon after that time, and there are many others who anticipate attending the opening of the exposition at St. Louis on April 30. Important measures outside of appropriation bills which remain on the state are few.

ALEXIEFF GIVES UP POST.

Viceroy Resigns, and the Czar Will Accept Resignation—Story of the Sinking of Makaroff's Flagship, the Petropavlovsk.

St. Petersburg, April 20.—Alexieff, the Russian commander in the East, has sent in his resignation to the czar. His withdrawal comes in the form of a request for permission to retire from command of the forces in the far East. No reason is given for his sudden retirement.

The czar will grant permission at once and a new commander will be sent from St. Petersburg.

The retirement of Alexieff is the source of much speculation. It is believed that he has not been active enough in his preparation and advances into Korea to appease the war party and the czar.

The request of Admiral Alexieff to be relieved from his post has created a distinctly bad impression here, and it is feared that it foreshadows a repetition on land of the Japanese successes on the sea.

The Russian officials also fail to understand the surprising blunder caused by the mistake of the Russian torpedo boat destroyers in taking the Japanese torpedo boats for a Russian flotilla, which resulted in the loss of the Strashni.

Kuropatkin informs Czar of Execution of Spies.

St. Petersburg, April 22.—The emperor has received the following telegram from Gen. Kuropatkin:

"All was quiet on the Yalu on the 19th and 20th, and there has been no change."

"On the night of the 19th opposite Cape Towan, west of Kai-Shu, a steamer was observed sending a signal, evidently for the purpose of taking soundings. The boats soon returned."

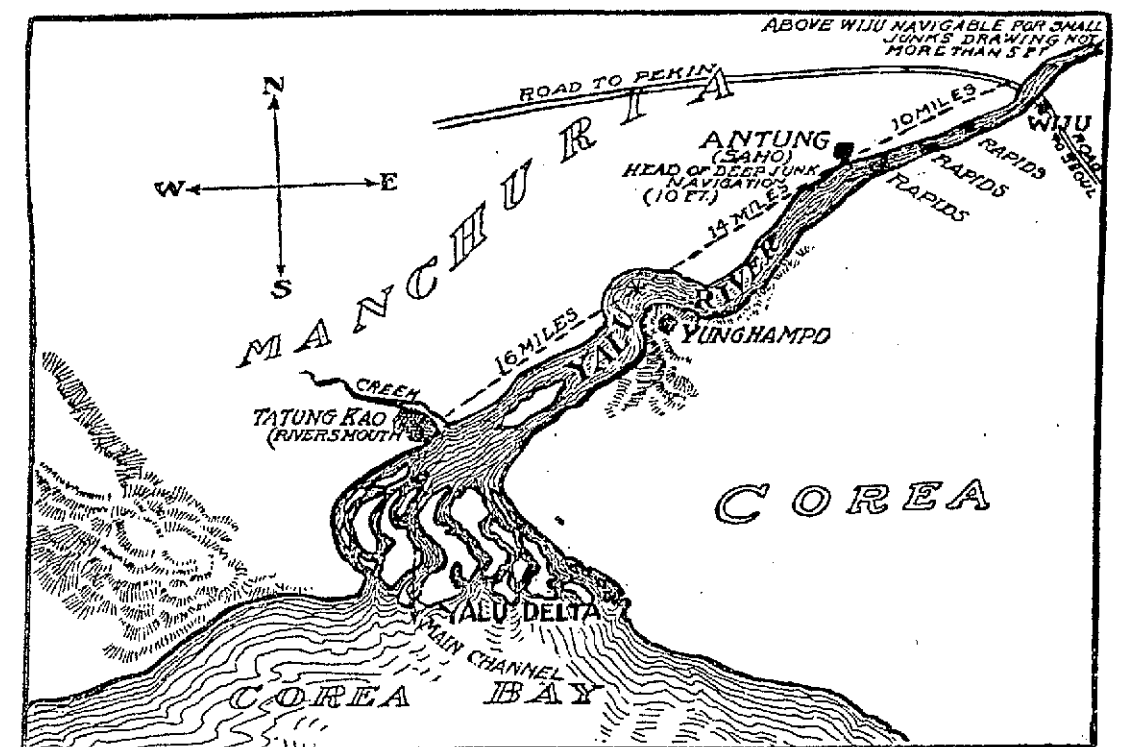

troops which will probably endeavor to effect a junction with a force supposed to have landed near the mouth of the Yalu three days ago.

Lights of Japanese transports have been seen nightly to the west of Taku-Shan, but it was believed that bad weather had prevented the disembarkation of the troops. It now appears that they landed secretly at some point along the coast and are now marching on Newchwang from the east.

Hundreds of Russians Drown. London, April 22.—A correspondent of the Times, cabling from Newchwang, says that a messenger has arrived from the Yalu river with the information that the Russians are fleeing north across the river in overcrowded boats and are losing hundreds by drowning.

The Tokio correspondent of the Times says that a messenger has arrived from the Yalu river with the information that the Russians are fleeing north across the river in overcrowded boats and are losing hundreds by drowning.

MAP SHOWING THE DELTA OF THE YALU RIVER AND THE LOCATION OF TOWNS THAT FIGURE IN THE WAR DISPATCHES.

The map shows an enlargement of the region at the mouth of the Yalu river and the location of Wiju, Yung-ham, and Antung about which towns the war dispatches nowadays have much to say. The Japanese occupy the two former places, while the Russian command Antung, on the north bank, and the question of crossing the river is the momentous issue for either belligerent. Wiju was declared a free port on the 23d of August last, and at the same time the Korean government established a customhouse at Yung-ham. Those incidents materially increased the tension between Russia and Japan at that time. Antung is merely a place of strategic importance, being practically only a collection of hovels, but the Russians are now reported to be massed there in force. It is said that the Russians have mined the mouth of the Yalu, and if this be so a glance at the delta will show the difficulty that Japan may experience in attempting to enter the river and land troops in Manchuria.

Japanese Spies Complained of by Russian General. St. Petersburg, April 22.—The operations of the Russians in Manchuria are greatly hampered by the immense number of spies. Maj. Gen. Konarsky, commanding the Ninth East Siberian rifle brigade, says the Japanese have taken advantage of the convenient location of Newchwang, which is full of spies.

"In the guise of merchants, beggars, ragpickers and tinkers," says the general, "these spies sniff everywhere. They have grown plagues, showing that they have been preparing for their work for a long time, and that they are unwilling to trust entirely the information supplied by the Chinese. They are hard to get rid of."

Alexieff Admits Enemy's Mines Sink Ship Petropavlovsk.

St. Petersburg, April 23.—All doubt as to the cause of the destruction of the battleship Petropavlovsk and the damage to the battleship Pobeda at Port Arthur is dissipated by the report submitted by telegram to the emperor April 21. In it Viceroy Alexieff states in a way that leaves the matter no longer an open question that mines were responsible for the disaster. The admission of the presence of Japanese ships off Port Arthur on the night preceding the going out of the Russian ships, which were watched by Admiral Makaroff, tends to establish Vice Admiral Togo's claim that his ships laid mines on which the Russian battleships struck.

The viceroy's report was sent only after a thorough investigation, ordered by the emperor, had been made. It was published through the war commission. It explicitly states that "under the starboard side of the Petropavlovsk there was an explosion," and specifically declares that a mine exploded under the Pobeda. That the Russian ships did not run on their own mines is shown by the failure of the viceroy to mention anything of the kind, and by the positive statement of the port admiral that Admiral Makaroff was familiar with the location of the mines defending the port.

INSISTED HE WAS DEAD.

Steamboat Captain Would Take No Fare From Frowzy Egghead. When Edward Eggleston was a boy of 18, writes his brother in "The First of the Hoosiers," he was believed to have consumption, and was sent to Minnesota for his health. He went up the Mississippi with a genial, though profane, captain, who did not believe the boy was going in the right direction.

Rain Water for the Complexion.

One of the most famous beauties was Ninon de l'Enclos, whose complexion was the envy of the ladies of the French court. Many were the compounds they tried to produce a fairness of skin and a rosy blush to equal hers, but in vain. The secret of Ninon de l'Enclos was one which neither she nor her chemist—in those days great ladies kept their chemists—would part with. It was only after her death, at the age of 90, that Malice d'Orner told what had kept her skin so clear, complexion fresh and beautiful. It was rain water pure and simple.

Mistake Costs Man's Life.

Thomas Lennon, aged 27, unmarried, a houseman in the employ of the Winnebago Traction company, was electrocuted at the top of a pole near the station of the traction company, midway between Oshkosh and Neenah. The engineer at the power plant mistook another man's voice for Lennon's, and believing that Lennon had responded "All right," turned on the current. A voltage of 5,000 passed through his body and he was shockingly burned.

Senior Class Plans.

At a meeting of the senior class of the University of Wisconsin it was decided that there will be no class play this year. The matter was left in the hands of a committee of actors and a matinee may be given Monday afternoon of public week. The question of wearing caps and gowns was not discussed. Eleven hundred tickets for the jubilee banquet have been sold, every chair being taken.

Prosperous Women Farmers.

Mary Treistik and Mathilda Meyer, two Manitowish young women who located in Oklahoma during the land rush two years ago, are home for a visit to their parents. They are but 22 years of age, and, before undertaking their venture, never had been far away from home. They have perfected a claim to 360 acres of land, and made improvements that make their holding valuable.

May Discuss Socialism.

The Rev. W. R. Gaylord of Milwaukee became involved in a heated argument with the Rev. Father Kaster at New London. In the course of the discussion Mr. Gaylord challenged Father Kaster to a public debate on socialism to be held anywhere in the state. New London preferred, however, Father Kaster has the matter under consideration and may decide to accept.

Nearly Cut in Half by Saw.

Henry Dayton, 25 years old, residing at Casselton, was cut almost in half by a saw while cutting wood at Rhinelanders with a saw operated by power. WISCONSIN NEWS

WILL BUILD AT THE UNIVERSITY

State Institution Is to Have a New Chemical Laboratory.

The board of university regents has let the contract for the new chemical laboratory building for $99,500, the lowest of four bids, which just comes within the $100,000 appropriation for the structure, by the last legislature. The building will be erected this year.

The budget was made up for the school year, and aggregates $578,000. It was decided to spend $2,000 in improving the athletic grounds at Camp Randall. Upon recommendation of President Van Hise, the board decided to charge the upper classmen a gymnasium fee of $2 a year, and short course agricultural students, 75 cents.

Charles Russell Bardeen was elected professor of anatomy and will begin his duties next fall. He comes from the Johns Hopkins medical school, and has done a large amount of original work. The appointment of Prof. Bardeen is a part of the plan to rapidly enlarge the studies in medicine. In order that students may cover the first two years of a thorough medical course, and thus be enabled to complete their studies in the best schools of the country in two additional years.

LIVER TROUBLES

"I had Thedford's Black-Draught a good medicine for liver disease. It cured my son after he had spent $100 with doctors. It will cure liver trouble. It is sold everywhere. It is sold in Grand Rapids, Wis., at Otto's Pharmacy, 125 N. Washington St., W. Va. 1000."

If your liver does not get regularly cleaned out, it will become clogged with bile, and this will cause a variety of troubles. This great family medicine cleanses the bowels, and causes a healthy secretion of bile.

Thedford's Black-Draught will cleanse the bowels of impurities and strengthen the kidneys. A torpid liver invites colds, biliousness, chills and fever, and all manner of sickness and contagion. Weak kidneys result in Bright's disease which claims many victims as compensation. A 25-cent package of Thedford's Black-Draught should always be kept in the house.

Competitively.

To Whom It May Concern:—

To the people of the U. S. really desire a change of Executive?

If not why not make history repeat itself and have another "Era of good feeling" such as characterized the second term of James Monroe, whose promulgation of the doctrine bearing his name was so popularly received that practically he had no opposition.

Arbitration.

The present incumbent in his frank, fearless and fair exploitation of the principle of arbitration, has it is hoped, rendered service some the less deserving of signal appreciation.

Feasibility of Scheme.

Our electoral machinery makes the plan possible since the electors of the respective political parties could be instructed to cast their ballots for the present occupant of the White House and then each party could select, as an exponent of its platform, a candidate for Vice-President. For example the democrats could name Parker, Hearst or Garvin, the trade unionists Mitchell, Campers or Berger; the republicans, Fairbanks, Shaw or Spooner, etc., etc.

Advantages of Plan.

This would give an opportunity of testing the wishes and will of the American people about the questions of the day, and be of service for the guidance and government of the executive who, according to the spirit and letter of our constitution is merely the hired servant of national sheriff to execute the laws as made by the Congress and construed by the Judiciary.

Reasons for Course.

1. For the opposition, on account of immaturity or prematureity the present political "grapes" appear to be "sour."

2. While not a "democrat" Theodore Roosevelt is democratic, his errors being more the want of thought than of heart.

3. There is not an inconsiderable class who superstitiously believe the party in power is responsible for good (or bad times) and should untoward conditions follow under the current rule, the delusion would be dispelled and true economic principles be learned.

4. The influence abroad of such an exhibition of civic could not but be beneficial to ourselves and the whole of mankind.

5. The writer has never been in political fellowship, at any time, with the dominant party, and has full faith that the ideal principles of democracy, viz: Freedom of Commerce, of Conscience, of Religion, of Speech, of Contract and of Choice will ultimately win, but for the present, at least, and as leading to that end, it might be just as well to unflinchingly give Theodore Roosevelt another term, not on account of minor faults, but in spite of them.

DEMOS.

In speaking of the above article, Walter Wellman, of the Chicago Record-Herald, has the following to say:

A novel suggestion has been received at the White House. W. E. Fitch, the cranberry man of Wisconsin Cranberry, sends it in. He thinks all political parties should unite in giving President Roosevelt a second term and says the president is as much entitled to re-election without opposition as James Monroe was after he had promulgated the famous doctrine which bears his name. Mr. Fitch adds that the political parties in national convention assembled should instruct such electors of their political faith as may be chosen in the various states to cast their ballots for a political campaign over the vice-presidency, each party naming a candidate for that office. In the opinion of the author of this idea, "the influence abroad of such an exhibition of civic could not but be beneficial to ourselves and to the whole of mankind." Which is probably true; and so would the millennium.

A Chattanooga Druggist Statement

Rebt. J. Miller, proprietor of the Read House Drug Store of Chattanooga, Tenn., writes: "There is more merit in Foley's Kidney and Bladder Cure than in any other remedy. It cures for it multiply wonderfully and we sell more of it than all other cough syrups combined." Sold by Johnson & Hill Co.

Best Cough Medicine for Children.

When you buy a cough medicine for small children you want one in which you can place implicit confidence. You want one that not only relieves but cures. You want one that is unobjectionable to the child. You want that is pleasant to take. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy meets all these conditions. There is nothing so good for the coughs and colds incident to childhood. It is also a certain preventive cure for croup, and there is no danger whatever from whooping cough when it is given. It has been used in many epidemics of that disease with perfect success. Otto's Pharmacy

HAVE SELECTED THEIR SITE.

Grand Rapids Brewing Company will Erect Their Plant on the East Side.

The Grand Rapids Brewing Co. have selected as their site for the new brewery the property on the east side north of the Grand Rapids Poultry, known as the old court house site, the property having been purchased on Tuesday from David Lutz. The situation is a good one and is probably the most accessible that could have been selected from all points, everything considered.

The stockholders of the new company at their last meeting elected as directors of the company Messrs. Jacob Lutz, Frank Boyanowski, George Wertheim, Jr., W. E. Uile and Joseph Lick. At the directors' meeting held later the following officers were elected: F. Boyanowski, president; Joseph Lick, vice president; Jacob Lutz, treasurer and manager; George Wertheim, secretary and bookkeeper.

No time will be lost in starting the erection of the new concern, and Jacob Lutz and William Uile left for Milwaukee to make some of the preliminary arrangements, and it is expected that ground will be broken for the building the first of next week.

The new company was capitalized at fifty thousand dollars, and of this amount something over forty thousand has already been taken. There are about thirty-five stockholders interested in the concern.

"I have used Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets with most satisfactory results," says Mrs. F. L. Phelps, Houston, Texas. "For indigestion, biliousness and constipation these tablets are most excellent. Sold by Otto's Pharmacy."

Nothing Equal to Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for Bowel Complaints in Children.

"We have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in our family for years," says Mrs. J. B. Cooke, of Nederland, Texas. "We have given it to all of our children. We have used other medicines for the same purpose, but never found anything to equal Chamberlain's. If you will use it as directed it will always cure. For sale by Otto's Pharmacy."

Now is the time to take a spring tonic to purify the blood, cleanse the liver and kidneys of all impurities. Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea will do the business. 25 cents. Tea or tablets. Johnson & Hill Co.

Death of Mrs. Joseph Akoy.

On Sunday morning, the seventeenth instant, at the home of her son Peter, occurred the death of Mrs. Joseph Akoy, at the age of eighty years, ten months and twenty nine days, after an illness of five years and three months, cause of death being paralysis. Deceased was born at Two Rivers, Canada, in 1823, came to Milwaukee in 1854, and later to Indianapolis with her husband in 1866, where she was left in sorrow by the death of her husband in 1884. She was the mother of fourteen children, three surviving nine sons and two daughters. These are Joe, Thedford, Oliver and Peter of Rudolph, Eugene of Star Lake, George of Quincy, Alfred of Blom, John of Merrill, Edward of Eau Claire, Mrs. Leazy Rayome of Rudolph, Mrs. Chas. Menier of St. Paul. Mrs. Akoy was a kind motherly woman and a good Christian, and was well liked by all who knew her. An unusually large number of friends followed the remains to their last resting place at St. Philomena cemetery, Rev. Van Sever conducting the services.

Spring Must be Here.

Notwithstanding the fact that the thermometer hovers near the zero point every night and snow falls in capacious quantities at the slightest provocation, it must be that spring is upon us notwithstanding. To support our claim we publish a piece of poetry that came to us by mail. It is a well known fact that there are certain persons who must write poetry when spring comes, and consequently it must be spring when they write poetry. The poem is as follows:

The Editor and the Telephone.

Maud Muller, on a summer's day,
Called, "Number, please!" to earn her pay.
Before her, numbers, painted small,
Fell down when any one would call.
The Editor called from his office 'phone,
And made to Maud his wishes known.
Said he, "I'll ask you just once more,
For four-eleven-forty-four."
Said Maud, as mild as summer seas,
"What number did you ask for, please?"
Said he, "I told you twice, before,
It's four-eleven-forty-four."
Said Maud, and you could hear her smile,
"Just hold the 'phone a little while."

A weary interval ensued,
The wires hummed an interlude.
And broken bits of talk came o'er
The 'phone, and made the waiter sore.
He pounced upon the little crank
And for a minute straight did fiercely yank
Till Maudie's voice he heard once more.
"What number are you waiting for?"
The Editor responded with a roar,
"It's four-eleven-forty-four!"
Sorely Maud made answer then,
"That line's busy, call again."

The editor had other business that day,
And so he merely walked away;
But as he walked, he shook his head,
And this is what he sadly said:
"Of all the words of tongue or pen,
The d—dest, arg, 'Busy, Call again.'"
